

Imperative Form

The imperative form is the most basic sentence structure.

USE

- 1 To give commands or orders
- 2 To give instructions
- 3 To offer advice
- 4 To warn somebody

STRUCTURE

Affirmative

Just the verb

Negative

DO NOT + infinitive
DON'T

Don't press the button!

Don't use subjects with this structure, you use the verb alone. It is implied that the imperative is directed to the person/people listening.

Therefore, it is the same for all people. If you are talking to one person, one boy, one girl or a group of people, it's always the same.

To sound more polite, you can add "please" after the imperative.