

Opinion Verbs

There are lots of different verbs we can use to express our opinion.

When we use these verbs to express our opinion, we follow a special structure.

1

Subject + Opinion Verb + Noun

I love pizza
I like cheese
I don't like chocolate

2

Subject + Opinion Verb + Verb (ING)

I love watching TV
I like eating cheese
I don't like going to the cinema

*You may see these verbs being used with the structure "to + infinitive". This is also correct, but it slightly changes the meaning. This means that the activity is a habit and it is normally used with a time phrase. For example, I like to watch TV at night. This sentence means you like the habit of watching TV at night. Most commonly, these verbs are used with the gerund (ING).
