Is the following sentence true or false?

The Beatles represented a social change
in the UK

TRUE

It's fair to say The Beatles were successful musicians, but in the UK they represented so much more. They were the faces of the younger generation who were rebellious and looking for a change. Their haircuts and their clothes were rebellious for their time. They took to using marijuana and LSD to “open their minds”. They drove forward social initiatives, such as refusing to play at white-only locations during the time of racial segregation.

I'm really into karaoke. I love going to the local karaoke bar, choosing my favourite song and belting it out with my friends. We can all chill out and have fun when we go to the karaoke bar. My best friend has an amazing voice so she always shows off when it's her turn. We always turn the microphone up when she sings so everyone in the karaoke bar can hear her amazing voice!

I always choose the same song, I Will Survive, but there's a new song that recently came out that I love! Maybe I'll sing that next time.
