I live on Yellow Road and I walk to work every morning. To get to my office, I turn left when I leave the house. I walk to the end of Yellow Road and I turn right onto Penning Street. I walk approximately 20m on Penning Street and then I turn left. I walk underneath two small bridges and then you arrive at Cup Park. This park is beautiful, there are always lots of people in the park. I go through the park and go past the cathedral, cafés and some small shops inside the park. Then I arrive on Soap Street. Soap Street is the main street in my city, so it's very busy. On Soap Street there are lots of traffic lights, so I need to wait for the traffic lights to turn red and for the cars to stop and then I can cross Soap Street. Then I arrive at Galing Road. I cross the zebra crossing on Galing Road and my office is there. There are lots of directions, but it only takes around 10 minutes to walk to work.
